Star Atlases & Charts

DESCRIPTION

Falkauer Atlas is a photographic star atlas published in 1962 by Hans Vehrenberg aimed at astronomy enthusiasts. It contains 303 star maps in A4 format, housed in two boxes, each showing square star fields of approximately 12 × 12 degrees. This economical yet precise celestial atlas, covering the area from the celestial north pole down to a declination of -26°, was reprinted in 1963 and was widely used in Central Europe.
